Introduction

The vast majority of those leaving the Armed Forces go on to lead fulfilling and rewarding lives, which is a testament to their professionalism and resilience. However, for those who need help it is right that we step forward, create new opportunities, and remind them that they are not alone. Everybody across our society has a responsibility to make sure we protect those who protected us - Rt Hon Gavin Williamson CBE MP, Defence Secretary, 2018.

What is the Armed Forces Covenant?

The Armed Forces Covenant is a promise by the nation, ensuring that those who serve or have served in the armed forces – and their families – are treated fairly. Under the terms of the Covenant, Members of the Armed Forces, veterans and their families should face no disadvantage compared to other citizens in the provision of public and commercial services. Special consideration is appropriate in some cases, especially for those who have given most such as the injured and the bereaved. This commitment is made in recognition of the sacrifices the Armed Forces Community make on behalf of the country.

All serving personnel (regulars and reserves), veterans and their families are considered to be the Armed Forces Community.

The covenant is a national responsibility involving government, businesses, local authorities, charities and the public.' It focuses on helping members of the Armed Forces Community have the same access to government and commercial services and products as any other citizen. It covers such issues as healthcare; education; housing; benefits and tax; family life; transition and support after service.

The Armed Forces Covenant Report 2018 outlined a number of key advancements in the Government's existing approach to supporting Britain's military community.

However, A survey of 1,000 Armed Forces Individuals revealed that:

20% of Armed Forces respondents have been referred to between three and ten charities before finding support (1,000 surveyed).

45% were unsure where to get help.

54% found the sheer number of registered Armed Forces charities confusing. This directory is to be used as a guideline to the services available in the five county boroughs within Gwent.

Schools Admissions

School admissions and appeals code

The 'School admissions code' and the 'School admissions appeals code' have been produced by the Welsh Government and explain the statutory guidance that must be followed when allocating school places in all primary, secondary and middle schools. Relevant sections of the school admissions code have been extracted for ease of use.

<https://gov.wales/school-admissions-code>

Admissions criteria

When deciding upon admission we will consider each individual application received by the published closing date. Where the number of applications for admission exceeds the number of places available, places will be allocated applying our admission criteria.

Catchment areas

2.54 For children of UK Service personnel, admission authorities must treat a family moving to their area as meeting the residency criteria for the relevant school catchment area once proof of the posting has been provided, even if no address is currently established in that area.

Infant class size limit

3.45 Statutory limits on class sizes provide that when a single school teacher³² is present, and subject to certain limited exceptions (see below), infant classes (reception, Year 1 and Year 2) may not contain more than 30 pupils.

3.46 An admission authority can refuse to admit a child to a school where to do so would cause class size prejudice, that is to say, prejudice to efficient education or efficient use of resources as a result of the relevant measures that would be needed to comply with the duty to limit the size of infant classes. However, in relation to the reception year such prejudice can not be said to arise unless the schools admission number would be exceeded.

3.47 Whilst there is no legislation limiting Key Stage 2 classes to 30 or fewer this is the class size target for the Welsh Government.

3.48 Where certain types of children ("excepted pupils") cannot be provided with education at the school in another infant class in which the limit is not exceeded without relevant measures being taken which would prejudice efficient education or the efficient use of resources, those children are not to be counted for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not the limit of 30 pupils is exceeded.

Excepted children are:

1. Children whose statements of SEN specify that they should be educated at the school concerned, and who were admitted to the school outside a normal admission round.
2. Children who are looked after by local authorities (looked after children), or who have ceased to be looked after (previously looked after children) as a result of being adopted or being placed with a family or given a special guardian and are admitted to the school outside a normal admissions round.
3. Children initially refused admission to a school, but subsequently offered a place outside a normal admission round by direction of an admission appeal panel, or because the person responsible for making the original decision recognises that an error was made in implementing the school's admission arrangements.
4. Children admitted outside the normal admission round who:
 - the maintaining local authority confirmed cannot gain a place at any other suitable school within a reasonable distance of their home because they have moved into the area outside a normal admission round, or
 - they desire a religious education, or a Welsh speaking education and the school in question is the only suitable school within a reasonable distance.
5. Children who were admitted to the school outside the normal admission round after which the school has arranged its classes, and after the first day of the school year, the effect of which would mean that the school would have to take a relevant measure if such children were not excepted pupils.
6. Children of armed forces personnel who are admitted outside the normal admission round.
7. Children whose twin or other sibling from a multiple birth are admitted as non-excepted pupils, as the final pupil(s) allocated a place before the admission number is reached.
8. Children who are registered pupils at special schools, but who receive part of their education at a mainstream school.
9. Children with SEN who are normally educated in a special unit in a mainstream school, who receive part of their lessons in a non-special class.

3.49 Excepted pupils will remain so, once admitted, for the remainder of their time in an infant class or until class numbers fall back and they can be organised to comply with the infant class size limit. For example, because a non-excepted child leaves the class, an additional infant class is created, or an additional teacher is appointed, then that child ceases to be an excepted pupil. Classes must be organised so as to comply with the limit wherever possible.

3.49 Excepted pupils will remain so, once admitted, for the remainder of their time in an infant class or until class numbers fall back and they can be organised to comply with the infant class size limit. For example, because a non-excepted child leaves the class, an additional infant class is created, or an additional teacher is appointed, then that child ceases to be an excepted pupil. Classes must be organised so as to comply with the limit wherever possible.

3.50 The exceptions in respect of previously looked after children, children of armed forces personnel and twins or other siblings from multiple births will apply in respect of admissions from 2014/15 school year. All other exceptions will apply from the 2013/14 school year.

Children of UK Service personnel and other Crown Servants (including diplomats) Pg 31.

3.65 Families of UK Service personnel and other Crown Servants are subject to frequent movement within the UK and from abroad, often at relatively short notice. School places must be allocated to children and their families in advance of the approaching school year if accompanied by an official Ministry of Defence (MOD) or Foreign and Commonwealth Office (FCO) letter declaring a return date. Children of UK Service Personnel may be given excepted status for infant class size purposes when admitted to a school outside the normal admission round.

3.66 Admission authorities must:

- Ensure that the needs of the children of these families are taken into account.
- Allocate a school place in advance, if the applicant would meet the criteria when they move to their destination.
- Invite a Service representative or representatives of other significant concentrations of Crown Servants to join the admission forum.
- Accept a Unit postal address for applications from service personnel in the absence of a new home postal address.

3.67 Admission authorities must not:

- Reserve places for blocks of these children, or
- Refuse a place to such a child because the family does not currently live in the LA area.

Caerphilly

Children of UK service personnel will be treated as in catchment if their application form is accompanied by an official Ministry of Defence (MOD) letter declaring a definite return date and confirmation of the new address.

Pupils from outside the school's catchment area will be admitted in accordance with parental preference if the Admission Number of the school, class or unit has not been reached and, if selection is necessary, the criteria shown above will be used. Where parents have shared responsibility for a child, and the child lives with both parents for part of the week then the home address will be determined as the address where a child lives for the majority of the week (e.g. 3 out of the 5 school days). Parents will be required to provide documentary evidence to support the address they wish to be considered for allocation purposes.

Monmouthshire

Children of returning UK Service Personnel and other Crown Servants (including diplomats) moving to Monmouthshire will be determined as meeting the residency criteria for the relevant catchment school if their application form is accompanied by an official proof of posting declaring a definite return date with confirmation of the new address wherever possible.

Where the relevant catchment school has already met its admission number in the relevant year group at the time of application, the Local Authority will exceed the admission number.

Newport

The council will not normally exceed a school's admission number or breach the limitations imposed by statutory maximum infant class size (30), except:

- Where the application is for a child of armed forces personnel that are either serving or returning from service at the time the application is made, the council will admit the child to the school.

Where the relevant catchment school has already met its admission number in the relevant year group at the time of application, the Local Authority will exceed the admission number.

Children's Education Advisory Service (CEAS)

Who are CEAS?

Children's Education Advisory Service (CEAS) is part of the MOD's Directorate Children and Young People (DCYP).

We are a tri-service organisation which supports operational effectiveness through the provision of support to Service and eligible MOD civilian families trying to secure appropriate educational provision for their children and young people.

Our priority is the educational well-being of the children and young people whose families we advise and guide. All advice we give is impartial, child-centred and focuses on the best interests of the individual.

The CEAS team is comprised of qualified teachers and experienced case advisors who can answer queries predominantly via email and telephone.

Whilst the education of children remains very much a parental responsibility, CEAS can advise, guide and support families to provide a high quality educational experience for their children, despite the challenges that Service life can present.

Being an outwardly facing arm of DCYP, the direct contact between parents and CEAS, alongside the management and resolution of casework, helps inform the continuous review and redevelopment of policy by the MOD and its partner organisations.

What can CEAS help families with?

CEAS provides authoritative, confidential, impartial advice to Service and eligible MOD civilian families on a wide range of educational issues including:

- Parental rights and responsibilities
- Children/ young person's rights and responsibilities
- Special Educational Needs and/or Disability
- School admissions and appeals
- Overseas education in non-MOD school areas
- Retention of quarters for educational purposes
- Continuity of Education Allowance

CEAS does not make decisions about a child/ young person's education; we advise families to allow them to make informed decisions for themselves.

How can you contact CEAS?

CEAS website is: <https://www.gov.uk/government/groups/the-childrens-education-advisory-service-ceas>

The most effective way to contact the CEAS team is via email. Emails are checked every working day and allocated to case workers to provide the required action.

Supporting Service Children in Education (SSCE) Cymru

SSCE Cymru is a Welsh Local Government Association (WLGA) project, initially funded by the Ministry of Defence (MOD) and now funded by the Welsh Government. The SSCE mission is to provide the best possible educational support to Service children, by ensuring education professionals understand the challenges that Service children may face. The SSCE Cymru mission involves three areas:

Activity and resources

Working with schools, local authorities, charities and support organisations to produce resources that will help professionals support Service children throughout their education.

Royal British Legion

Children in Service families face some big challenges, such as emotional strain due to parents being deployed, frequent house moves and problems with admission into schools.

The Royal British Legion has explored these challenges and produced best practice guides looking at ways to support Service children in school. The guides share examples of good practice from across England and Wales, and recommend ways in which local authorities, schools and families themselves can improve Service children's experience in education.

The guides explore the adverse effects on a Service pupil's well-being and provide information on the extra funding available to Service children through the Education Support Fund and more.

Service children – Wellbeing and Mental Health support in Wales

There is no mental health support specifically tailored to or available for Service children in Wales. However, there are a number of organisations offering relevant support, and with a high level of focus currently on children and young peoples' mental health and wellbeing, there are processes and systems in place offering support to all children in Wales with their Mental Health and Wellbeing needs.

This document provides some information on what support is available and how to access it.

How to capitalise on military talent

Inspire - Hire – Grow Employers' Toolkit

At a time of rising employment, employers are competing to find skilled and qualified candidates. A growing number of employers in Wales are capitalising on military talent to plug this skills gap as they represent a ready-made source of top talent which businesses can tap into with the right recruitment process. This is a simple guide to employing Armed Forces veterans and reservists in Wales. This toolkit was developed by Business in the Community (BITC) Cymru, on behalf of the Welsh Government.

👉 Website: <https://gov.wales/docs/dsjlg/publications/commsafety/181204-employers-toolkit-en.pdf>

Did You Know?

It is estimated the 82% of Service leavers who used the CTP in 2016/17 were employed within six months of leaving the Armed Forces, with a further 10% either in full time education, training or not actively looking for work. However, there is evidence of a veteran employment gap, with significant numbers of veterans without full or part time employment or not able to use the skills they have in their roles.

Welsh Government Employment Pathway

Welsh Government has produced an Employment Pathway which is employment support for Service Leavers and Veterans. This Pathway is designed to signpost and inform Service leavers and veterans of their options in finding employment that recognises their skills, to support financial security.

👉 <https://gov.wales/docs/dsjlg/publications/commsafety/181114-employment-pathway-en.pdf>

Working Wales

Welsh Working Wales will commence delivery in April 2019. The programme will consolidate Welsh Government's current suite of employability support to deliver a new joined-up approach to employability and skills support, designed to meet individuals' needs. The programme will support people of all ages to overcome any barriers they may have, in order to achieve and maintain good quality, sustainable employment. In February 2019 Welsh Government launched the Employment Advice Gateway which will be the entry point for referral onto the Working Wales programme and other employability programmes. Based on individuals' personal circumstances and aspirations, trained advisors will identify the most suitable support for that person. In agreement with the individual, advisors will then refer individuals to the most appropriate support; this could be to Working Wales, Communities for Work, or other interventions.

RFEA – The Forces Employment Charity

We provide employability and employment support to working age veterans in the UK. Current estimates are that one million working age veterans live in the UK. We know that unemployment rates for working age veterans are higher than for civilians.

We support veterans through life including those who have served for a short time and are in the 18-24 year old age range, through to older veterans. The over 50's are increasingly recognised as facing greater challenges in finding employment.

Our work includes early intervention, supporting veterans to find a new job, often when they have not succeeded in finding jobs through general civilian support. We prevent working age veterans from becoming long-term unemployed so that they can sustain an income and provide a stable life for themselves and their families.

We increasingly work with those who are unemployed, who face higher barriers to employment and have a longer journey back to work. To do this, we link with welfare, healthcare and housing charities as well as working with veterans in the criminal justice sector.

 Telephone: 0121 262 3058  Email: info@rfea.org.uk

The Poppy Factory

We believe that veterans should love the work they do, but for some, having a mental or physical health condition can make it tough to find and stay in work. That's why our award-winning employment service makes sure the veterans that we support find the right roles to suit their lifestyles and aspirations within their local community.

We provide one-to-one career planning advice and job searching support that includes linking with employers to find bespoke opportunities that match veteran's interests and motivations. As well as this, we give CV advice and interview guidance so veterans can highlight how all their skills and attributes can transfer to the civilian world. When veterans start new jobs, we are also there to give ongoing in-work support to both veteran and employer so the working relationship can thrive.

The service is available to veterans and reservists in England, Wales and Northern Ireland who meet the following criteria: have a physical or mental health condition that forms a barrier to employment (this does not need to have been developed during military service), are outside of the CTP period of 2 year post-service employment support and are currently unemployed.

Why Employ a Service Leaver?

Over 300 Service Leavers come on to the Welsh civilian job market through the Career Transition Partnership (CTP) each year. They include highly trained engineers, technicians, trainers, police, administrators, IT managers, drivers, chefs, nurses, pilots, experienced managers and communications experts. At a time of rising employment, employers are competing to find skilled and qualified candidates. A growing number of employers in Wales are capitalising on military talent to plug this skills gap as they represent a ready-made source of top talent which businesses can tap into with the right recruitment process.

So what is the benefit of employing a Reservist?

- Skills accrued from the Reserve service are transferrable and a tangible to Employers.
- Reservists are 'Go Getters' who balance their work commitments, personal life and their Reserve service.
- Accredited Forces-funded training can increase productivity in your workplace.
- Financial assistance is available to cover costs if your employee is mobilised.
- Corporate Social Responsibility – supporting the Forces Reserve contributes to defence and security of the UK.

Forces Families Jobs

An employment and training platform for Service spouses, partners and family members.

There are two main sections on Forces Families Jobs - 'Jobs' and 'Training and Career Development'.

The Jobs section will allow employers to advertise jobs suitable for family members of serving personnel, free of charge. All employers will be asked to identify how they are 'Forces friendly'. Spouses will be able to search for jobs in similar ways to many other job. However, uniquely, all employers have committed to support Forces families. This is important as 45% of spouses interviewed in the research undertaken by Warwickshire University felt they had been discriminated against due to their connection to the Services.

The training and career development section will bring together all the excellent existing initiatives available for serving families into one place, making it easier for spouses and partners to find. There will also be a section for training and courses that have been discounted specifically for Forces families.

Reserve Forces' & Cadets Association

RFCA for Wales is an 'arms length body' of the Ministry of Defence (MoD), established by Act of Parliament and charged with giving advice and assistance to the Defence Council and to the Royal Navy, Army and Royal Air Force on matters that concern reserves and cadets in Wales.

Established in 1908 (as Territorial Associations), RFCAs were originally designed to provide local support to the Territorial Force in every county in the United Kingdom. Over 100 years later, the name has changed, the number of associations has drastically reduced but our dependency has grown to encompass reserves and cadets of all three services in Wales.

All RFCAs are central government bodies with Crown status and have constituted a Council of RFCAs (CRFCA) to provide central coordination at a national level.

Our primary tasks are:

- To provide advice and support on behalf of the volunteer reserve forces and cadets in Wales.
- To work with the chains of command of the three Services to deliver support to the reserves and cadets in Wales against Service Level Agreements.
- To establish and maintain links with the community and to deliver employer engagement on behalf of Defence in Wales.

- To deliver the volunteer estate in Wales through the maintenance and support of reserve training centres, cadet centres and training areas within which the reserves and cadets of all three services can conduct their activities.

Royal Monmouthshire Royal Engineers (Militia)

The senior Reserve Regiment of the British Army with unbroken service to the crown since 1539. The Regiment's current role is to provide formed groups of Combat Engineer Reservists for operations in the UK and abroad.

As Royal Engineers we train and are employed as Soldiers, Combat Engineers and Artisans helping all parts of the Armed Forces to Live, Move and Fight.

Who We Are

Originally an Infantry Militia charged with home defence, the Royal Monmouthshire Light Infantry became a Royal Engineer unit in 1896. The Royal Monmouthshire Royal Engineers (Militia) is therefore the only unit with two "Royals" in its title and the only Royal Engineer unit whose members wear the Prince of Wales Division cap-badge.

The Regimental Headquarters is based in the grounds of Monmouth Castle and at Vauxhall Camp, in Monmouth. The Regiment consists of three Field Squadrons of around 140 personnel based out of a number of Army Reserve Centres located in the West Midlands, South Wales, Bristol and the Channel Islands.

The Royal Monmouthshire Royal Engineers (Militia) Army Reserve Centres are in:

- 100 Field Squadron (Militia): Cwmbran, Cardiff and Bristol.
- 108 Field Squadron (Militia): Swansea.
- 225 Field Squadron (Militia): Oldbury, Stoke-on-Trent and Cannock.
- Jersey Field Squadron (Militia): St Helier Jersey and St Peter Port Guernsey.

What We Do

The Royal Monmouthshire Royal Engineers (Militia) is a Combat Engineer Regiment and as such we train as Soldiers, Combat Engineers and Artisans. Our role is to deploy teams from 3 to 140 strong on operations in the UK and abroad.

We train to deploy on operations to complete the following types of mission:

- Combat Engineer support.
- Infrastructure development.
- Contract management and on-site supervision of locally employed civilian workers.
- Facilities management of military engineer equipments.

The Regiment consists of personnel with a variety of skills but in all our people we develop what we call the Militia qualities, namely:

- Leadership.
- Common sense.
- Physical robustness.
- Self awareness.
- Technical ability.

Artisan Engineer Trades

We develop more technical engineering skills within the Regiment through:

1] Reserve Artisan Trade Courses

Reserve Artisan trade courses are available to all combat engineers within the Regiment who achieve a basic understanding and ability in a range of infrastructure focused skills.

2] Attending Regular Army Trade Courses

Those Reserve Soldiers who can spare the time and meet the entry standards can attend the Regular Soldier artisan courses listed below at the Royal School of Military Engineering in Chatham, Kent. You can join by contacting our Recruiting Team in any one of our Army Reserve Centres or by visiting a local Armed Forces Careers Office.

614 (County of Glamorgan) Squadron

Royal Auxiliary Air Force

614 Sqn is a General Service Support Sqn that is based in central Cardiff and is the only RAuxAF Sqn in Wales. It offers up to 20 different branches and trades on the Sqn itself and access to many more on other RAuxAF Sqns throughout the UK; all of which provide skills (such as communication, teamwork, management and leadership) that are transferable to other areas of life and which can enhance a person's primary career.

As part of No. 1 Gp, 614 Sqn's Reservists deliver operational output to directly support RAF operations on RAF Stations in the UK and at various locations abroad. Members of the Sqn also have the opportunity to participate in engagement activities at various ceremonial, PR and recruiting events across South Wales and beyond.

The great thing about being an RAF Reservist is that the work and training is designed to fit around a person's full-time career. As well as basic military and professional training, there are many opportunities for continued professional and personal development including role specific courses and Adventurous Training (AT). Our selection process takes due account of professional experience and qualifications, and with an upper age for entry of 55 years, we are here to support personnel through all aspects of their application.

RAF Reserves are expected to attend a minimum of 27 days per year and much of this is made up of trade and branch training, general Service training and AT that takes place over various weekends throughout the year. Personnel will also be expected to undertake a mobilisation of up to 6-months within their first 5 years on the Sqn, either in the UK or abroad.

Job Centre Plus

As part of the Armed Forces Covenant, the Department for Work and Pensions (DWP) has initiatives that help current and former members of the armed forces and their families access Jobcentre Plus services.

This includes having an armed forces champion in every Jobcentre Plus district who ensures that we provide support that meets the needs of the armed forces community.

Armed forces champions in JCP

The armed forces champion focuses only on the Jobcentre Plus support available to:

- Service leavers.
- Serving personnel currently within their resettlement period.
- Spouses and civil partners of currently serving and ex-service personnel.

If you are having difficulty using our services please ask the Jobcentre Plus staff member that you are dealing with to speak to their Jobcentre Plus district armed forces champion.

The role of the armed forces champion is to:

- Develop and maintain joint working arrangements between Jobcentre Plus and the armed forces community in their Jobcentre Plus district.
- Provide information to Jobcentre Plus staff about specific armed forces initiatives.
- Provide an understanding of the issues the forces community face that can be a barrier to employment.
- Be the first point of contact for Jobcentre Plus staff and services welfare and families staff to advise on queries regarding individual armed forces cases - including serving personnel, their families and veterans.
- Focus specifically on the Jobcentre Plus support available to service leavers, those within their resettlement period and spouses and civil partners of currently serving and ex-service personnel – where necessary and appropriate, the champions will work to put support in place.

The champions work in partnership with the armed forces community and support organisations in their district, as well as local and national employers, to:

- Identify work trials.
- Employment opportunities.
- Support service leavers and their families.

Benefit Cap exemption

They also work to raise the profile of the service community in terms of the skills, knowledge and experience they can offer, and work with colleagues to ease some of the barriers to work being faced by service families.

The champion will tailor their activities to match the needs of the armed forces community in their district. This means some activities may differ from district to district. The role and responsibilities of the champion remain the same regardless of location.

The champions are not customer facing. This means a service leaver could not walk into their local Jobcentre Plus office and expect their local champion to be based in that office. Instead, the champions maintain close contact with Jobcentre Plus advisers who make them aware of armed forces issues and raise issues with the champion if the customer requests it. Each of the services has appointed points of contacts who form a link with the relevant champions within their area.

Members of the service community who wish to bring an issue to the attention of their local champion can do so either through their:

- Nominated service focal point.
- Local Jobcentre Plus office.

Jobcentre Plus and the Work Programme

All former service personnel have access to the full range of Jobcentre Plus services. As well as this, a person who has served in the armed forces for any day within the last 3 years can be considered for early access to the Work Programme.

- Employment and Support Allowance.
- Incapacity Benefit.
- Income Support.

Benefit cap exemption

Receipt of the following exempt a recipient and household from the benefit cap:

- Armed Forces Compensation Scheme Guaranteed Income Payments.
- War Pension Scheme payments.

Income-based Jobseeker's Allowance and 3 month residence requirement

Service personnel who have served abroad are exempt from the 3 month residence requirement for claims for income-based Jobseeker's Allowance on arrival in the UK. From October 2015, this exemption was extended to service spouses or partners and children aged up to 21 returning from overseas.

This means that service spouses and partners and their adult children will be treated in the same way as returning service personnel and will be able to claim income-based Jobseeker's Allowance immediately on arrival in the UK.

Armed forces spouse's information

Pre-2010 armed forces credits

Military spouses and civil partners reaching State Pension age from 6 April 2016 will be able to apply for new National Insurance credits. This covers periods from 1975 that they have spent accompanying the member of armed forces on postings outside the UK.

The credit will be administered by HM Revenue & Customs (HMRC) and help a person gain qualifying years that provide entitlement to the new State Pension. Read information about applying for the new credit.

National Insurance credits for spouses following a member of the armed forces overseas:

In April 2010, an award of Class 1 National Insurance credits was introduced for service spouses and civil partners to cover periods where they accompanied a member of the armed forces posted overseas. The credits help protect the eligibility of service spouses and civil partners to the State Pension and contribution-based working-age benefits.

Easing the contribution conditions for spouses and partners of service personnel accompanying on overseas posting.

In addition to the National Insurance credits award, an easement is in place to the first contribution condition for both:

- Contribution-based Jobseeker's Allowance (JSA (Cont)).
- Contribution-based Employment and Support Allowance (ESA (Cont)).

This is for the spouses and civil partners of service personnel who have accompanied their spouse or civil partner on a posting outside the UK.

This will help these spouses and civil partners to claim contribution-based Jobseeker's Allowance or contribution-based Employment and Support Allowance when they return to the UK.

Spouse and partner employment opportunities

The government is committed to providing appropriate support to the spouses or partners of service personnel. Partners of currently serving and ex-service personnel have access to the full range of Jobcentre Plus services. They can also be considered for early access to the Work Programme from 3 months into their claim for Jobseeker's Allowance.

Easing voluntary unemployment conditionality for spouses

It is Jobcentre Plus policy that spouses and partners of service personnel who leave employment to follow their partner will have 'just cause' for leaving that employment provided they did not leave earlier than was reasonably necessary in order to arrange the move. This means they should not be prevented from getting Jobseeker's Allowance (JSA) on the grounds of voluntary unemployment. Jobcentre Plus should consider each case on an individual basis using the relevant legislation and the information provided by the person claiming JSA.

Wounded, injured and sickness benefits

Access to benefits for medically discharged personnel

When a service medical board decides a severely disabled person can no longer be employed in the armed forces and should be discharged, DWP now uses the service medical board evidence to determine eligibility to Employment and Support Allowance (ESA) rather than conduct a face to face medical assessment.

Claims received from members of the armed forces who have been assessed by a Ministry of Defence (MOD) medical panel to be in their highest disability category are, wherever possible, assessed to consider whether the individual meets the limited capability for work-related activity criteria based on the MOD medical report (F Med 23) and without the need for a face-to-face assessment.

This applies to the initial Work Capability Assessment for the ESA claim made at the time of discharge. In these cases the individual will be placed in the ESA support group.

Armed Forces Independence Payment

On 8 April 2013 the Ministry of Defence (MOD) in conjunction with DWP introduced the Armed Forces Independence Payment (AFIP). This benefit is designed to:

- Provide financial support to service personnel and veterans who have been seriously injured as a result of service.
- Help cover the extra costs they may have received as a result of their injury.

AFIP eligibility is defined as those who have been awarded a Guaranteed Income Payment (GIP) of 50% or higher under the Armed Forces Compensation Scheme. DWP are responsible for making and maintaining payments. However, claimants for AFIP are required to submit a claim to Veterans UK. They will confirm eligibility with DWP who will put the payments in place.

War Pension

There are a number of compensation schemes administered by Veterans UK on behalf of the Ministry of Defence available to serving and former serving personnel who are injured as a result of their service in the armed forces. The scheme that applies to each individual will depend on when and where you served and when you were injured.

- The War Pensions Scheme (WPS).

Your claim can be considered under the WPS if you are no longer serving and your disablement was caused as a result of service in the armed forces before 6 April 2005.

- The Armed Forces Compensation Scheme (AFCS).

You can claim under the AFCS where the illness or injury was caused as a result of service on or after 6 April 2005. You do not need to have left the armed forces before claiming.

- The Criminal Injuries Compensation (Overseas) Scheme (CICO).

You can claim under the CICO if you or your eligible dependents are the innocent victim of a crime of violence while serving overseas.

Armed Forces Covenant Fund Trust

The Armed Forces Covenant Fund Trust makes grants to support the Armed Forces Community.

We manage the grant programmes funded by the Covenant Fund. We also run wider funding programmes that support the Armed Forces Community.

The people who benefit from our grants are from the Armed Forces Community. This includes serving personnel, families, veterans and families of veterans. In some of our programmes, the wider community around a base or in an area with an Armed Forces population can also benefit; as we will support projects on one of our programmes that will help to encourage good relations between Armed Forces and civilian communities.

The popular Armed Forces Covenant Fund Local Grants Programme makes grants of up to £20,000 for projects that meet local needs, or help bring Armed Forces and civilian communities together.

Care after combat

'Phoenix' is the name of the project to reduce the number of re-offending veterans released from prison.

During 2014, the Government undertook a review of Veterans within the Criminal Justice System published in December 2014 Veterans form the largest occupational group in prison. Project Phoenix was designed to specifically respond to the issues raised in the report...Project Phoenix (Phoenix) has been operational since May 2015.

Mentorship is introduced during the final 18-months of sentencing and continues following release, the latter, for a period of no less than 12-months. Inclusion criteria are Veterans in the final 18-months of sentencing.

All Care after Combat mentors have undergone formal training, initially validated by the National Offenders and Management Service (NOMS) and upgraded quarterly as part of their ongoing professional development. The results of the current mentoring intervention are remarkable with an absence of re-offending in the sample group.

2017/18 delivering a 96% success rate.

The key benefit of Project Phoenix is, of course, to the lives of the Veterans and their families, but there are also significant benefits to wider society, not least the financial savings of diverting them away from the criminal justice system.

Project 360

Project 360° is an innovative and extensive national partnership project in which Age Cymru is working alongside veteran's charity Woody's Lodge, and Age Alliance Wales members.

Former armed service personnel can have difficulties coping with civilian life and, in particular, accessing the health and social care they need to live a fulfilled life. Project 360° aims to ensure that services provided by Age Alliance Wales members are meeting the needs of older veterans, and that the right support is given to older veterans through a 360° provision. The project will also bring the combined services of Age Cymru and Age Alliance Wales to those veterans attending Woody's Lodge in an environment in which they feel comfortable and familiar, and develop a second facility in North Wales to replicate the same.

Eligibility

To be supported by the project you must have been a member of the UK armed services, reservists, or seen active service in the merchant navy for one day or more, and aged 65 or over. The project can also provide support and guidance for families and carers of eligible veterans.

Supporting the Transition of Military Personnel (SToMP)

Supporting Transition of Military Personnel (SToMP) was funded to design and deliver a whole system approach, coordinating a consistent service for ex-Armed Services Personnel (ASP) across Wales from police call out, through custody suites, court, probation, prison and resettlement into the community, which identifies ex-ASP and signposts them to specialist support services in order to meet individual needs.

SToMP is specifically designed to deploy combined public and voluntary sector resources to their best effect, integrating multi agency processes and service provision pathways and extending existing examples of good practice across Wales and beyond.

SToMP acts as the main point of contact for ex-ASP support services for criminal justice organisations, communicating information via a network of ex-ASP Champions and organisational newsletters and intranets.

Veterans Wales NHS

Veterans' NHS Wales is a specialised, priority service for individuals who have served in the Armed Forces, at any time in their lives and who are experiencing mental health difficulties related specifically to their military service.

VNHSW in Aneurin Bevan University Health Board has experienced mental health clinicians (known as Veteran Therapists) with specialist expertise in military mental health problems. The team accepts referrals from health care staff, GP's and veteran charities. Importantly, the team accepts self-referrals from ex-service personnel. Please note, no mental health diagnosis is needed for referral, it is sufficient to know that there is a mental health problem related to military service.

To refer, please go to our website at www.veteranswales.co.uk and look under 'referrals' tab where there is an online self-referral form or printable paper referral form. Alternatively, telephone or email for further advice.

Appointments will be arranged as close to the veteran's home as possible in a suitable venue. The team offer five clinics within the Gwent Health Board area. Please look at our website for further information on clinic venues under 'Health Boards' then 'Aneurin Bevan'.

Following the assessment, the veteran may be offered psychological therapy by the Veteran Therapist and/ or referred on to other NHS teams or departments for further treatment. The Veteran Therapist will also refer to veteran charities for help with, for example, debt management, benefits and war pension/armed forces compensation claims as indicated. Please note, the service cannot provide a diagnosis for Armed Forces Compensation Scheme claims.

The service is not able to respond to emergency referrals. Veterans in crisis should contact their GP or the Out of Hours GP Service. There is a Psychiatrist on-call at all Accident and Emergency Units in District General Hospitals. Alternatively call the Mental Health Helpline for Wales (Community Advice Listening Line), this is a confidential listening and support service help line and is 24/7:

Loneliness & Social Isolation in the Armed Forces Community

The Legion's 2014 Household Survey of the ex-Service community found that 370,000 older veterans reported being lonely. Furthermore, over twice that number reported experiencing some relationship or isolation difficulty – equivalent to around 770,000 people. Despite these findings, research on loneliness and social isolation across the UK Armed Forces community remains scant.

The Legion's new report – Loneliness and social isolation in the Armed Forces community – explores these issues across the community, consisting of Serving personnel, veterans and family members. It explores how members of the community experience these issues, what are the unique triggers for this community, and what barriers exist to seeking support.

Key Findings

- 1 in 4 of survey respondents indicated that they feel lonely and socially isolated 'Always' or 'Often'
- Almost 70% agreed that loneliness and social isolation are issues in the Armed Forces community.
- Moving to a new area was the most common cause of social isolation amongst survey respondents.
- Exiting the Armed Forces was the most common cause of both loneliness and social isolation.

Findings from this research suggest that some elements of Forces lifestyle can increase vulnerability to loneliness and social isolation.

These include:

- Increased volume of transitions in the Forces.
- A culture of self-reliance and avoidance of 'weakness'.
- Long periods of separation from partner and family.
- Impact of injury and/or sudden discharge on career and family.

Ways to Wellbeing

The Five Ways to Wellbeing are a wellbeing equivalent of 'five fruit and vegetables a day'. It is recommended that individuals build the Five Ways (which are described in the boxes below) into their daily lives to improve their wellbeing.

connect...

With the people around you. With family, friends, colleagues and neighbours. At home, work, school or in your local community. Think of these as the cornerstones of your life and invest time in developing them. Building these connections will support and enrich you every day.

be active...

Swap your inactive pursuits with active ones. Go for a walk. Step outside. Cycle. Play a game. Garden. Dance. Walk or cycle when making short journeys. Being active makes you feel good. Most importantly, discover a physical activity you enjoy and that suits your level of mobility and fitness.

take notice...

Be curious. Catch sight of the beautiful. remark on the unusual. Notice the changing seasons. Savour the moment, whether you are walking to work, eating lunch or talking to friends. Be aware of the world around you and what you are feeling. Reflecting on your experiences will help you appreciate what matters to you.

keep learning...

Try something new. Rediscover an old interest. Sign up for that course. Take on a different responsibility at work. Fix a bike. Learn to play an instrument or how to cook your favourite food. Set a challenge you will enjoy achieving. Learning new things will make you more confident as well as being fun.

give...

Do something nice for a friend, or a stranger. Thank someone. Smile. Volunteer your time. Join a community group. Look out, as well as in. Seeing yourself, and your happiness, linked to the wider community can be incredibly rewarding and creates connections with the people around you.
