This programme will award grants to charities or Community Interest Companies (CICs) working with Armed Forces veterans who need support to improve their mental health and wellbeing.

We will make grants to projects where we can see that the project is addressing a clear need. We will fund activities for veterans that organisations are already undertaking, as well as new projects.

The programme has two overall aims.

- To support high quality work that benefits veterans who have mental health needs
- To enable the organisations that are delivering this work to build referral pathways, both into and onwards, from the support they offer working collaboratively with our Strategic Partners.

Armed Forces Charities: registered charities that specifically provide support to beneficiaries from the Armed Forces community.

Armed Forces CIC: a Community Interest Company that specifically seeks to achieve social objectives for members of the Armed Forces Community.

Veteran: anyone who has served for at least one day in Her Majesty’s Armed Forces (Regular or Reserve) or Merchant Mariners who have seen duty on legally defined military operations.

Pathways of support: by this we mean different types of projects or services which, when linked together, can provide veterans with a seamless route of care and support to help them address mental health needs, and recover in a way that is appropriate for them.
In February 2020, HM Treasury provided a £10 million uplift for 2020/21 to the Armed Forces Covenant Fund Trust, to deliver charitable projects and initiatives that support veterans with mental health needs. This funding demonstrates this government’s ongoing commitment to ensuring that our veterans can access the services and support they deserve. Some of this £10 million was spent on meeting immediate needs by veterans as a result of Covid-19, through the Veterans Should Not Be Forgotten emergency grants programme.

This programme aimed to provide support for vulnerable veterans with reduced social contact via grants to members of ASDIC, Age UK branches and eligible and invited Cobseo members. Groups could apply for up to £20,000 for a six-month project focused on supporting veterans who are isolated and unable to access services or have limited social contact during the period of self-isolation and restrictions relating to the pandemic. A full list of projects awarded will be published in due course.

The Veterans’ Mental Health and Wellbeing Fund has two programmes:

- The Positive Pathways programme
- The Strategic Pathways programme

The Strategic Pathways programme will continue to fund a small number of national organisations, which will provide support and mentoring to organisations delivering activities and opportunities under the Positive Pathways programme. Activities supported under the programme will link veterans to wider recovery pathways.

Funded projects under the Positive Pathways programme will be supported to do this by the grants awarded under the Strategic Pathways programme.

The Positive Pathways programme has a budget of up to £5.2 million to fund projects that will develop and run activities which support ex-Forces’ mental health and wellbeing.

We ran a consultation to inform this programme, and you can read the consultation report on our website. Over 100 individuals and organisations responded to the consultation and there was broad support for a range of activities to be offered - particularly sporting activities and activities where people are outside. When asked to consider if it is better to fund more smaller projects or fewer larger projects, respondents preferred smaller projects. There was limited support for residential activities.
Giving veterans a range of choices was a strong emerging theme, along with opportunities for veterans to be active. There was a lot of support for the idea of veterans being outside and people felt this could have a positive impact on wellbeing and helping veterans develop friendships that would last beyond the project. People also want projects to achieve good outcomes for veterans and for the organisations that receive grants to be experienced in supporting people with mental health needs.

For Rounds 4 and 5 (2020/21) we have made some small changes, so please make sure that you read this version of our guidance carefully.

You can only apply for funding for one year.

Your activity also needs to be feasible with any social distancing requirements that are in place to keep people safe.

If you have received a previous grant for one year and you can show us that your project has been successful and there is demand, then you can apply to continue your project providing your organisation doesn’t have three or more active Positive Pathways grants.

You cannot apply for a continuation grant for projects that have received funding for a two-year period.
POSITIVE PATHWAYS
BY VETERANS, FOR VETERANS

Funding for activity based projects, for veterans, that can have a positive impact on mental health

Funding Options

1 YEAR
Apply for a flat amount of £35K to cover your project costs

Under this programme you apply for a flat amount to run your project. You can apply for funding for projects that are already up and running.

It's a rolling programme, so you can apply throughout the year. See our guidance for more details

What's Important?

☑ Be an Armed Forces supporting charity or CIC

☑ Be experienced in supporting veterans with mental health needs

☑ Offer an activity for veterans.

☑ This can be outdoors, and can include sports, arts and heritage activities

☑ Be able to tell us how the activity you are offering can help to improve mental well being

☑ Be able to show us that veterans really want to take part in the activity you are offering

☑ Be prepared to work with other organisations that can help connect your work into wider pathways of support

Organisations running projects should have good awareness of mental health needs and know to provide appropriate support if people are not well.

Through this programme we will support projects to connect with other organisations that can provide more specialist services. We would like veterans to be supported to get to the right places to meet their own, personal needs.
Our consultation asked what type of activities we should fund through this programme. There was support for:

Sport: adventurous and other sports including adaptive and disability sports

Art/Culture: such as music, theatre or drama projects

Getting outside: gardening, outdoors activities such as forestry or bees

Heritage: including conservation or archaeology

There was strong support for encouraging veterans to be outside. But there was also a clear message that it’s really important to give veterans choice. So, we want to fund a range of activities available to veterans throughout the UK.

To ensure that we are supporting projects for veterans across the UK, we are keen to encourage applications from organisations supporting veterans in the West Midlands and West Scotland, as these are currently under-represented in previous funding rounds.

We do not expect to fund UK-wide or multi-region projects under this programme.

Your project needs to offer an activity that is expected to improve mental health.

This could be any of the following.

- Offering something different to engage in.
- Offering the chance to develop new skills.
- Offering a sense of achievement or wellbeing.
Your project should have a clear primary activity for veterans to participate in and we should be able to clearly see in your application, what the activity is. Applications unable to describe the activity, or simply outlining a list of potential activities, may be considered unsatisfactory.

We also need to be able to see how veterans will gain from taking part in this activity. This could be developing new practical skills, having reduced isolation or better tools to help veterans manage mental health and wellbeing. It could also be helping veterans to have better awareness of their mental health and wellbeing needs, and good plans regarding what they want to do in future.

This is not a programme specifically about veteran employability, though we recognise that some of the skills that veterans may develop could be relevant to employment. The focus of your project should, however, be on improved mental wellbeing.

You may wish to check our website for other current funding opportunities.

Visit www.covenantfund.or.uk/programmes
We need to know that your organisation is experienced in working with veterans with mental health needs and that your organisation can manage risks effectively. We will not fund clinical care or treatment under this programme, though some projects may have mental health professionals working alongside them to offer appropriate support.

It is a requirement of our funding that any mental health treatment or interventions undertaken by organisations in receipt of grants from the Trust must only be provided by individuals who are suitably qualified and registered with an appropriate professional body.

It is also extremely important that your organisation can manage risks effectively. We would expect funded projects to be able to recognise when a veteran was seriously unwell or at risk of harm and be able to refer to an appropriate source of support. You must be able to evidence your ability and experience in recognition and related referral process within your application.

This programme is about supporting activities, rather than grants for complementary and holistic therapies. You’ll need to show us, to our satisfaction, that veterans will be active participants in the activity you are proposing.

We would also like you to be able to tell us how you know that veterans want to take part in your activity. The strongest applications will be able to show us that veterans with needs have helped to design or shape the activities on offer.

We would particularly like to fund activities and projects that are wholly, or in part, led by veterans.

You can show us how veterans’ views are taken into account in a variety of ways. If you have already run this activity, you might tell us how feedback from past participants has shaped what you do now. You might tell us how you know that veterans will be able to get to the activity that you offer, or how you are confident that you can promote it to reach veterans who are more isolated.
The Positive Pathways programme is part of the Veterans' Mental Health and Wellbeing Fund.

The other programme under this fund is the Strategic Pathways programme and this has made grants to some larger charities to help Positive Pathways applicants and grant holders connect the work they are doing with wider pathways of support for veterans with mental health needs.

Those receiving a grant under the Positive Pathways programme will be able to get support and guidance from our Strategic Partners to help connect their work with wider networks that support veterans’ mental health.

Our Strategic Partners are also able to support successful applicants with utilising the Impact Hub and we will send more information on this within your offer letter, if you are awarded a grant.

A recovery pathway is a way of describing a veteran’s journey to better mental health and wellbeing.

These blocks represent different elements to a veteran’s recovery, and these might be services offered by the NHS, Armed Forces charities or others.

There is evidence to suggest that activities can have a good impact on mental health and wellbeing, and through the Positive Pathways Programme, we will support activities benefitting veterans and help these activities to fit into wider recovery pathways.

Activities supported under the Positive Pathways Programme might be like some of these yellow triangles, located throughout the UK and offering different types of activities to meet the interests and needs of a range of veterans.

This programme will work with applicants and grant holders under the Positive Pathways Programme to help their activities link to wider recovery support.
This programme offers a fixed amount of funding per project. In the consultation, people felt it was important to support lots of smaller projects.

You can apply for one year’s funding of £35,000.

We’ve set the funding at this level as we think that this is the right size of project to offer a good level of benefit to veterans, and potentially connect into a wider pathway of support.

You can use the funding to pay for the costs of delivering your project. This can include staff costs or venue hire. You can’t use our funding to create new centres or other capital projects, but you can purchase items of equipment that you may need.

You’ll need to prepare a project budget so that we can see how you would spend your grant if awarded.

If your project will cost more than the amount of grant that you can apply for from this fund, you must tell us how you will find the other money needed. You do not have to have this in place before you make your application to us, but we will need to know how advanced your fundraising is, and what the risk is of the project not going ahead.

How we will assess your project

We will use the following assessment criteria when considering your project.

- The difference that your project will make to veterans. We call this meeting the priority.
- How you will run your project, and the governance and value for money of your proposal. We call this deliverability.

You’ll need to show us in your application form how you meet this criteria, to our satisfaction.

Other considerations include, the location of your project; we aim to ensure as wide a geographical spread as possible of each activity type to ensure maximum exposure and reach for the veteran population. We also seek to balance this against duplication of activity types within geographical areas.

Please visit our website for a full list of all previous Positive Pathways programme awards made.

Our Trustees may decline applications that duplicate existing provision.
The difference that your project will make

<tr>
<th>What are we looking for?</th>
<th>We are looking for evidence that veterans want and need this project. We also want to see that there will be a positive impact on mental health wellbeing.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| What do you need to show us? | • Your experience of working with veterans in respect of mental health and wellbeing.
• That you have a clearly defined activity to offer, that isn’t a duplication of an existing service provision in your area.
• That you can tell us clearly what benefits, including better awareness of mental wellbeing, that veterans will gain as a result of the activity, and why you think this.
• That there is evidence of a need for your project. This could be through research, and through your own data and experience.
• That there is evidence that veterans want to take part in your project. This can include telling us how veterans have been involved in the design of your project, or how you will let veterans know about the activity that you are offering. |

Delivery of your project

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>What are we looking for?</th>
<th>That your project idea is well planned, meets the needs of the people you are supporting and is likely to be successful. We are also looking at how you will manage the grant, ensure that all relevant partners work together and that the grant is spent in the way that has the best effect on the lives of the people you support.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| What do you need to show us? | • That your organisation has the adequate skills, experience and resources to deliver the project.
• The skills that you have in your project management team
• That your organisation has a track record of providing the support within your project.
• That you are aware of risks to successful project delivery and that you have plans on how to mitigate this, particularly considering sustainability and delivery post any successful grant.
• That you can manage specific risks regarding referring veterans who might be very unwell.
• That the project costs are fair and reasonable for the number and needs of veterans likely to be involved.
• That you have good financial controls, monitoring and reporting processes.
• The suitability of management structure/governance arrangements and reporting.
• That there is a clear financial relationship between you and any delivery partners. |
Who can apply?

Eligible applications will be from either a registered charity or a Community Interest Company (CIC) which:

- meets our definition of an Armed Forces Charity or CIC

- has at least three unrelated trustees or directors

- has a track record of supporting veterans with mental health and wellbeing. We do not expect to be funding new organisations through this programme.

- has at least one year’s worth of published accounts (either audited or independently examined). We may ask to see these during assessment if we cannot access them online. CICs will be expected to include a copy of their most recent accounts as part of the application.

- can demonstrate financial robustness and organisational sustainability for the period of the project including post grant reporting period.

Who can't apply?

- Charities or CICs that do not primarily support the Armed Forces.
- Brand new charities or CICs that have no track record of supporting the Armed Forces community.
- Local authorities, schools and other public sector organisations, though they can be a partner organisation.
- Individuals cannot apply and cannot be a partner organisation.
- Companies, clubs, community groups and other unincorporated organisations, which are not registered as charities. If they have been properly constituted under an adopted governing document and have been operating under that governing document for at least three years, then they can be a partner organisation.
- Partnerships and social enterprises that are not registered charities or Community Interest Companies, but they can work as a partner with an eligible lead applicant.
We have introduced specific criteria for our existing Positive Pathways grant holders. Please see the following eligibility table:

You can choose to work with other organisations either informally, or as Delivery Partners who will help develop and deliver the overall project.

A Delivery Partner is an organisation which is either:

- receiving part of the grant OR
- their involvement in the project, through providing resources or some other means, is critical to the delivery of the project

Role of the lead organisation

The organisation that submits the application is the lead organisation. It will have legal responsibility for all funding we award and will be financially accountable for any funds that may be distributed by the lead organisation to Delivery Partners.

Working with Delivery Partners

We do not require every project we fund through the Positive Pathways programme to work with Delivery Partners. However, we encourage partnership working where appropriate and possible because:

- involving other organisations helps generate new ideas or can extend the scope or diversity of the type of work that can be delivered within the project
- local organisations working together often have the reach and expertise to make the greatest impact, with the breadth and depth of experience to tackle the multiple and complex issues faced by those they support
- better co-ordination of different types of provision within a single partnership structure can lead to more effective service delivery tailored to an individual’s needs
- smaller organisations may be most effective for delivering certain types of provision, but may not have the capacity to deliver a project of this scale on their own
- partnerships have access to a wider range of skills, resources and solutions
- cross-sector partnerships may be essential for sharing information between different providers.

You should consider what organisations it may be most appropriate to work with to deliver your project.
If you are awarded funding and you plan to work with one or more Delivery Partners, it will be a term and condition of your grant offer that you have a formal signed partnership agreement with them.

If you are successful, the draft Delivery Partnership agreement must be approved by us and finalised prior to any funding being released. We may request changes to the draft agreement before it is finalised. You can find guidance on what a Delivery Partnership agreement should include on our website.

We may carry out a number of checks on the information you provide us as part of our assessment or if you are awarded a grant. This is to make sure that the information is correct and there are no significant risks we can identify when awarding or monitoring grants.

These may include checks:

- on whether financial information on your application form matches that held by your regulatory body (Companies House, Charity Commission etc.)
- that your governing documents (such as constitutions and memorandum and articles of association) are up-to-date, correct and properly signed
- on your accounts that are accessible through regulatory bodies
- on any identified concerns about a person named as a contact or who has a position within your organisation
- that your organisational name and address on your bank statement are consistent with the details you’ve provided in any completed form or the information that’s held elsewhere in the public domain
- that your bank statement shows that your account is being managed in line with your own financial procedures and our programme requirements
- that the signatories are valid and well informed about the project.

We may ask you to send us more recent financial information than your published accounts. If we ask you to do this, you will need to send us this information within five working days of any request.
A grant could be requested to pay towards most of the costs that you’ll need for your project, such as salaries and fees, travel, equipment and materials.

There are a number of things we can't pay for, either because they are not relevant to this priority, not in the spirit of the fund or because of relevant legislation or tax rules.

These include:

- Capital schemes such as building a veterans' centre.
- Topping up existing grants and aid from another government department.
- Where money only benefits one person.
- Investments.
- Organisational fundraising activities, including sponsored walks or similar.
- Grant giving (to other organisations or individuals).
- Endowments (to provide a source of income).
- Projects, activities or services that the state has a legal obligation to provide.
- Retrospective funding for activities or management costs for projects that have already taken place.
- Excessive contingency, research or management costs or professional fees.

This is not an exhaustive list.

If your project strongly addresses the priority, the spirit of the fund and the criteria set out in this guidance, your costs should be eligible.
Applications must be submitted online. There is a link to the application form on our website.

Remember to save your application from time-to-time as you complete the form: like all web based forms, the system will ‘time out’ after a period and you may lose your work. Our form will provide you with a notification of time out after 40 minutes. If you choose to continue, please be aware that this will not automatically save your work. To save, you must choose the save icon at the bottom of the screen before the time-out occurs, or you will lose your work.

You can save your form and return to it. You do not have to complete it in one go.

Don’t forget to click ‘submit’ when you have made your final changes.

Unless you do this, we will not receive your form. You will receive an email notification to advise you that this has been submitted to us successfully.

We strongly recommend that you save an offline version of your application form. You may also find it helpful to complete your application in a word document, and then cut and paste the answers onto the online form.

Do check that you have fully answered all the questions, because if not, we might not be able to consider your application.

We do not expect you to send any other documents at the time of submitting your application and will not take any additional information sent by email or post into account, unless we have specifically requested it.

If you have any questions about completing the application form, please contact us.
Providing points of contact (POC) in your application

It’s important that we can contact your organisation, particularly, of course, if you receive a grant. You’ll need to provide two contacts from your organisation on the application. Here we have provided some helpful guidance on what we need from you and why this information is so important.

- At least one of your points of contact should have an email address that belongs to your organisation: this can be something such as persons.name@organisationname.org or a group mailbox such as info@organisationname.org

- Please consider who should be the current main POC when you complete the form: For example, the main fundraiser may be filling out the form but will not be the Main POC if successful. Please ensure the details provided are for the person who will be delivering the project.

- At least one contact must also hold the relevant authority: The reason we ask for this is because we will need to send your offer letter electronically should you be successful, and the offer letter will need to be signed by two people of relevant authority to both agree the contract, as well as authorise the bank account used for payment.

- There must be two different email addresses: The offer letter will be sent to the main POC first and once they have signed it will automatically go to the second (and more senior) POC. Therefore, they cannot be the same email address for both people. You can find out more about the process you will need to follow should you be offered a grant, on our website www.covenantfund.org.uk/accepting-your-award

- Please ensure the two POC email addresses are ‘safe’ email address on your email security system: the offer letter document is sent via Adobe Click and Sign (a PDF document that allows for signatories to sign electronically), and this will be sent from the email address echosign@echosign.com. It is therefore advisable to ensure that any email account provided to us will have this email address ‘Whitelisted’ You can find out how to ‘whitelist’ an email address on our website at www.covenantfund.org.uk/accepting-your-award/

- What if my email account cannot ‘Whitelist’ addresses? We understand that in some cases (such as those using government email addresses), due to security systems in place, you may not be able to ‘whitelist’ the echosign@echosign.com address. In these circumstances, in the application form there will be the ability to provide alternative email addresses. If you provide an alternative, we will only use it for the purposes of sending an offer letter document. Any other correspondence will be sent to original organisational email address you provide as the main point of contact.

Please Note

- If at least one organisational email address is not provided, your application may be considered ineligible. This is something that needs to be set up in order for any award to be made, and so if you do not contact us with an email address linked to your organisation, we may withdraw your application.

- If any POC details change, even before we have contacted you with a decision, do let us know as soon as you can. Remember: by not providing the right contact information, it will delay your payment if you are successful.

- If you have any questions relating to POC details, please contact us at info@covenantfund.org.uk
Making more than one application

An eligible organisation can make more than one application to this programme, for distinct and separate projects, at any time before the final deadline and may receive more than one grant, providing your organisation doesn’t have three or more active Positive Pathways grants.

Applicants should note, however, that demand is expected to be high and the amount of funding available is limited. Trustees will prioritise applications from small and local (rather than national) organisations, and those whose projects are led or partly led by veterans, if they need to choose between bids of similar quality. Trustees may also choose to prioritise organisations who haven’t received a grant from the Armed Forces Covenant Fund Trust in the past, and those that seek to provide an activity type in an area that is currently underserved by one of our funding programmes.

After you've submitted your application

You will receive an automated email to confirm that your application has been submitted.

We will check your application to ensure that you have provided all the information we have requested and if you and your project are eligible for the programme.

We may contact you during our assessment if there are things we are unclear about – but do not assume us making contact or not is any indication of your likely success in receiving a grant.

We will review the information you provide in your application and, where relevant, data and information from the Charity Commission, Companies House or other regulators’ websites relating to your constitution and audited accounts from the past two years.

We will assess your application against the key criteria.

Final decisions will be made by the Trustees of the Armed Forces Covenant Fund Trust, who will review the applications together using balancing criteria in addition to the key criteria. The balancing criteria include the relative strength and value for money of the project when viewed as part of a national portfolio of projects and the need to ensure the right mix of projects across the UK.

Funds are limited and, therefore, the Trustees will use their discretion to choose which projects to fund in order to ensure that we have a good spread of funded projects, and to differentiate between projects that are considered fundable.

After the Trustees have met, we will send an email to the two contacts you have provided on your application form to tell you whether or not you have been awarded a grant. If we are unable to support your application, we will send you the assessment report.
If we offer to fund your project you’ll need to accept our grant offer and the terms and conditions within four weeks of receiving the offer letter. The terms and conditions for these grants will be similar to those on our website.

We expect you to start your project within four weeks of the start date in your application. so please ensure you bear this in mind when completing the form and ensure your stated start date is feasible and considers anticipated lead and preparation time.

We do understand that delays can occur, so let us know if this is the case.

We may ask you for a detailed budget and will ask for bank details.

Payment of your grant will be dependent on receipt of requested documentation and will be phased across the period of the funded project with an initial 95% upfront and the remaining 5% on successful completion of a final report. Interim progress reports will be required at six-monthly intervals.

We expect you to proactively tell us if there are any changes to the project or the people involved in it, or any problems you are encountering, as soon as they arise.

All of the grants we make under this programme will be one-off grants.
The Armed Forces Covenant Fund Trust has developed an online tool to help grant holders track the impact of their project. It is called the Impact Hub.

The people who take part in your project fill out a questionnaire online at the beginning and end of their time with your project. It can also be completed during the project.

It measures how the beneficiary has improved in how they feel about particular aspects of their life; and looks at the distance travelled. The tool is based on the Veterans Wellbeing Index, but has been adapted to use with families of veterans.

The tool is easy to use and it will give you information on how your project has achieved impact. This information might help you when thinking about how to develop your work further, or to help explain the benefits of your work to potential funders.

If you have a grant from us, we would expect you to use our online tool as part of your grant management.

It will also give you information that may be helpful to your organisation, in terms of being able to look at the impact your work has had. This may help you when looking at other funding in future.

We would not require you to budget for evaluation as part of your project, but if you did want to include evaluation costs, these must not exceed 10% of the overall project cost.
The Impact Hub

Project receives a grant

Project sets up an account on the Impact Hub containing organisational details, linked to programme that it has received funding under

Ben, a beneficiary accesses the project

Ben put baselines wellbeing data into the Impact Hub. He can do this on his own, or with a support worker from the project

All of this data is collected

Ben will use the same wellbeing scoring tool at a later date. He may also do it during the project

All of this data is collated, and gives a picture of what the impact is across many projects over time

Ben’s data will be locked into the Impact Hub and his individual data will not be accessed. A summary of general data that does not identify Ben will be used to understand impact.

About us

The Armed Forces Covenant Trust manages the grant programmes funded by the Covenant Fund.

We also run wider funding programmes that support the Armed Forces community.
